

Two Worlds II releases with a big misunderstanding

Contributed by Cyrle
Sunday, 14 November 2010

Two Worlds II is a great game. With few exceptions Two Worlds II receives excellent ratings in the media. Only the community is furious. What has happened?

Some days ago Topware Interactive has published the map of new Antaloor. At the same time an interactive map of Antaloor was presented on the official site of Two Worlds II. On the interactive map only lower half of the Antaloor map was shown. Nobody told the community that only in this half the singleplayer campaign is played.

Upper half of the map with the big island is exclusive for the multiplayer game. Most players were surprised by these circumstances. Therefore, big discussions are delivered at the moment in the communities.