

General Information

- SummaryThe multiplayer part of Two Worlds features a MMORPG mode where you can battle others or join together to explore Antaloor (the setting of Two Worlds).When you open up the multiplayer of Two Worlds you will get the ability to choose which town you would like to start in. The town is the starting point for your character where you can join together with up to 8 players and afterwards go outside of the town.It will also be possible to host horse races and battle 1 vs. 1 in the arena.You are able to develop your character and it will be stored on the Two Worlds central servers. Your character will be fully customizable both in stats and looks.